COUNTY BOARD

Hears Glowing Reports From Presidents of Four Local Hibernian Divisions.

President William J. Connelly Presides Over Enthusiastic Meeting.

Division 4 Will Give Marble Altar Steps to Dominican Church.

SOCIAL MEETING A SUCCESS

Sunday afternoon an informal and interesting meeting of the County Board, A. O. H., was held at the Hibernian Home on Portland avenue, the preliminary to the regular and quarterly sessions which will be consecutive. The meeting was presided over by County President William J. Connelly, who has read a communication from National President McLaughlin pertaining to the good and welfare of the order, after which he gave his views and offered four suggestions for discussion and action.

When called upon President Mark Ryan, of Division 1, in a clear, concise and impressive manner reviewed the history of the Ancient Order in Louisville, the good accomplished by Division 1 and the adhesion of its living members to the grand old order and its noble principles. He touched upon all the questions tersely and was frequently applauded. Joseph Lynch, President of Division 2, the next speaker, briefly referred to the doings of his division, and then discussed the question of the sick and death claims paid and the money that still remains. He also submitted a question which will be discussed at the next board meeting.

Sergeant John Maloney pointed to the great progress made by Division 3 through the zeal and activity of its members, who have purchased a hall and home of their own and are serving great credit. John H. Hennessy, President of Division 4, spoke in glowing terms of the achievements of the men of Limerick, who are steadily increasing their membership. He alluded to their recent big initiation and another to follow soon, and also spoke encouragingly of the future of the order, his words causing his hearers and winning deserved applause.

Ex-National Director George J. Butler eloquently and logically discussed the main questions, expressing faith in the Ancient Order and the principles it enunciated. He also paid tribute to the patriotism of Irish-Americans, who always are ready and willing to aid a good cause. Mr. Butler is one of the old guard, who has held high office with honor, and the applause given him was proof of his strong hold on the Hibernians.

Attorneys Lawrence J. Mackey and William P. McDonogh urged cooperation between the members for their uplift and kept their hearers in cheerful mood. Both were gratified with the excellent showing and standing of the order in Louisville. Daniel McCarthy, of Division 1, was greeted with applause when he arose, but owing to the lateness of the hour he said he would only in-dorse the views already expressed. In concluding he spoke earnestly of the love of faith and nationality of the Irish race, whose descendants in this country look to the Ancient Order of Hibernians for every good national move and entertainment, especially the observance of St. Patrick's day. Thomas Lynch, of Division 4, who has the record of bringing more men into the order than any other in Louisville, told how he succeeded and was given tremendous applause when he stated he had six more applications for the next meeting of Division 4. There being no further business the meeting adjourned to meet on Monday night, November 29, all present being pleased with the proceedings.

Division 4 played the role of host Monday evening and played it well, judging from the expressions heard on all sides from the large crowd in attendance. Only a short business session was held, the most important feature of which was the appointment of a committee to arrange for the building of new marble steps to the main altar of St. Louis Bertrand's church. This was taken under consideration at the suggestion of the division chaplain, Rev. Father Kealty, who stated that the Dominican church was now undergoing a complete renovation, frescoing, etc., and that it would be a token of esteem and reflect the close connection between the church and members of the Hibernian order. Every member present was enthralled over the suggestion and it was unanimously agreed that a committee be given full power to arrange for the building of the new marble steps, the following committee to act: John J. Hennessy, John J. Barry, Thomas J. Langan, Fergus Mooney, James McTigue, L. J. Meany, Thomas Lynch, Patrick Connelly, Edward White, D. J. Reilly and Patrick O'Donnell. Following the short business session the Entertainment Committee, composed of Thomas Lynch, James McTigue, Lawrence Meany and M. J. McDermott, who had arranged a vocal and musical programme and a bounteous line of refreshments, made everybody feel at home and happy. During the entertainment part of the programme talks were made by County Vice President John M.

Maloney; Mark Ryan, President of Division 1; Daniel McCarthy, Secretary of the same division, and others. John E. Browne, Joseph McCarthy, Sergt. Maloney, Daniel McCarthy and Dave Reilly were added numbers on the musical programme, the other musical features being furnished by the Morris-Larner trio, who had been especially secured for the occasion. Later in the evening all present joined in singing the good old Irish numbers, which went with a vim, and before adjourning the Entertainment Committee was given a rising vote of thanks for the enjoyable evening. In addition to Rev. Father Kealty, the division chaplain, Very Rev. Father Crowley and Rev. Fathers Baxter and Fitzgerald were present.

ORGANIZE LADIES' BRANCH.

At a well attended meeting of Catholic ladies and gentlemen last Sunday afternoon in the parlors of the Knights of Columbus action was taken that portends the organization in Louisville of the largest ladies' branch of the Catholic Knights of America in the country. Ladies came in automobiles and street cars, and when Gen. Michael Reichert was chosen Chairman and Eugene McCarthy made Secretary there was an interested and enthusiastic gathering. Gen. Reichert returned thanks for the honor, saying it was auspicious that the ladies' branch was being formed on the birthday of Pope Benedict. Capt. Michael Quinn, of Brooklyn, who is a Supreme Trustee, was warmly greeted when presented, his presence being a happy surprise. Capt. Quinn said he came here with the sole hope that the ladies would organize. There were, he said, 2,000 ladies in the branches organized, and their work had been most successful, the meetings being always of a social and enjoyable nature. He also dwelt upon the great good the order had done and the twenty millions paid the wives, children and parents of deceased members.

Miss Theresa McDermott, Mrs. Harry Veeman, Mrs. Werner and others expressed themselves anxious for the establishment of a branch composed of ladies who would be active and always doing things right. After a number of applications had been received it was decided to hold the charter list open until New Year's, when the branch will elect its officers. Secretary Meahan and Treasurer Veeman, of the State Council, William M. Higgins, Capt. Oscar Maier and others opined that many were anxious to become charter members, and therefore it was decided to hold another meeting at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in St. John's Hall, Clay and Walnut, to which all Catholic women and their friends are invited. Before leaving the city Capt. Quinn said he was pleased with all he witnessed. It is the intention to present the ladies $100 when the branch is instituted.

VINCENSIANS REORGANIZED.

The national conference of St. Vincent de Paul Society representatives, who assembled in Washington to reorganize the order, closed at the Catholic University in Brookland on Sunday. Plans were completed for extending the work of the organization and the country was divided into ecclesiastical provinces, which will report to Thomas M. Mulry, of New York, the newly elected President of the Superior Council. It was decided to establish the national headquarters of the organization in Washington. At Saturday's session President Mulry was elected President of the Superior Council, which will have jurisdiction over 961 parish conferences in this country with a membership of 15,000 men actively engaged in relieving the distress of the poor, irrespective of religion, color or nationality. Last year the charity workers spent $750,000 on relief of poor, found employment for 5,000 men, relieved 33,000 families and made 238,000 visits to the homes of the poor. Hereafter each conference of the organization transacted its affairs in this country and its international relations independent of the other conferences. Under the reorganization the various conferences will report to and through the Superior Council. Addresses in which the work of the society was discussed were made by Bishop Thomas J. Shanhan, rector of the Catholic University, and Archbishop Hanna, of San Francisco.

Among the delegates who were prominent in the deliberations of the conference were John A. Doyle, President of the Louisville Particular Council, who will make a detailed report of the proceedings at the next quarterly meeting.

GREETED BY THOUSANDS.

Amid the acclamations of thousands, the waving of flags and the inspiration of exalted prayers and an enthusiasm that lifted the heart and made young and old feel proud that they were citizens of this glorious republic, Louisville on Monday welcomed and sped on its homeward way the famous Liberty Bell that rang out the freedom and independence of this country nearly a century and a half ago in Philadelphia. The arrangements made by Mayor Buschmeyer and his assistants were perfect and not the slightest incident occurred to mar the harmony of the occasion. All classes and creeds and conditions were represented in the programme and magnificent ceremonies; Catholics, Protestants, Jews, stood together shoulder to shoulder, under the stately folds of our nation's flag, and acclaiming that flag and bell which had proclaimed our country's freedom. Two notable incidents were the tribute paid the famous relic by the orphans of St. Vincent's Asylum, who waved flags and cheered as the train passed the city limits, and the ringing of the Catholic and Episcopal church bells as the car entered and left the precincts of Pewee Valley.

WHINING

Complaint That Great Britain Makes Against the United States.

Americans Understand Little and Like Less Growing English Feeling.

Enemies of Germany Have Been Furnished Ammunition and Money.

RULE OF UNREASON IS ENGLISH

In its last Sunday's issue the Chicago Tribune editorially asserts that one of the things that Americans understand little and like less is the apparently growing English feeling that the United States has a place in the war and for other sordid reasons if not for cowardice in refusing to take it. When the Germans revile us we can understand it. Industries in the United States furnish the enemies of Germany with ammunition and guns and bankers in the United States furnish them with money. We know why the Germans hate us, but the English emotion comes out of some species of national egotism that we can not completely understand.

There is an assumption not only that English policy is sacrosanct, but that it conserves, necessarily because it is English, all the liberties and fortunes of humanity. This is a side whiskered vestryman's conception of the importance of his virtue and of the infallibility of his judgment. Naturally it rolls an American conscious that the attitude of the United States towards Great Britain has been one perilously near benvolent rather than strict neutrality, to find himself the target of a complaint that is whining rather than dignified.

Our place is not in this war. It would have been an atrocity of American statesmanship to have involved us in it. It is a war of European politics. We are told that a victorious Germany will turn on us. Sensible Americans will take a reasonable view of that and sensible Americans are supporting preparedness plans which will deter a victorious Germany or any other victorious nation from undertaking a conquest of the United States. To say that Germany will get us is to put forth an utilitarian argument and we have a right to dismiss it without being called ignoble. It is when the moral mood is adopted and the complaint touches our reversionary to a duty imposed by truth, honor and humanity that the American is likely to find himself provoked to irascibility.

The English have a perfectly good reason for being at war with Germany and it is not a moral reason, but a political one. They are engaged in a war for material reasons and then complain against the morality of a nation so aloof from the causes of the war as the United States and call it ignoble for remaining aloof from the action. It is to give a strange exhibition of hatefully self-righteous egotism.

It may amaze Americans to learn that this whining sort of complaint against the United States is current and gaining strength in England. It is so preposterous that it seems an impossibility, but certain forms of English respectability will yield themselves to such a distortion of fairness and rationality. Surely it can not represent a decent English opinion, but if it gets circulation enough it will begin to influence it, and if it gets circulation enough over here it will produce the greatest irascibility this war has caused in the United States.

If Americans are to be called potroons because they are not up to the neck in the war of European politics such as Europe has suffered from often enough times before, they will know that the rule of unreason is the rule of Great Britain.

RECOGNITION NOT AUSPICIOUS.

The American recognition of the Carranza Government of Mexico is called "not auspicious" in a letter from Archbishop Glennon to the priests of the archdiocese of St. Louis asking them to celebrate a Thanksgiving mass for Mexico. The letter says in part:

"In making this, our thanksgiving for the blessings we enjoy, we should remember especially our neighboring people in Mexico, who have suffered so much because of the revolutions which afflict and continue to afflict that unfortunate country. The revolutionary leaders and their followers have in turn plundered and looted. They have destroyed the substance and in many cases the lives of the peaceful and lawful citizens of America, so that today, while the leaders thrive, the people starve. It is true that the recent recognition of Carranza, perhaps the worst of the revolutionaries, is not auspicious; still we cherish the hope that the Government of the United States, together with the Governments of the Southern republics, who saw fit to give him recognition, will not now desert an unoffending people. Our Government, founded on justice and equal rights, should not be true to its traditions if now, that it has undertaken the recognition of Carranza, it permitted him to continue a career of injustice and outrage. Our Catholic people await the outcome with anxiety and impatience."

RECENT DEATHS.

Sunday afternoon the last solemn services were held at St. Patrick's church over the remains of Miss Mary Callahan, a most estimable woman, who died at the home of her brother-in-law, William Arkenburg, 1510 West Main street. A wide circle of friends and acquaintances mourn her death.

Parents, brothers, sisters and friends and neighbors were sadly bereaved by the death of little Thos. Albert Breen, son of Michael and Ellen Lardner Breen, who succumbed to pneumonia on Monday at the family residence, 1376 South Eighteenth street. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from St. George's church.

The funeral of Thomas McGraw, who died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Stephen Nalty, 511 North Nineteenth street, was held Monday morning from St. Patrick's church, attended by many old friends and acquaintances. For many years he was a well known locomotive engineer, but had retired because of his advanced age.

Funeral services over the remains of William W. Elliott, a respected resident of Jeffersonville, were held Sunday afternoon at St. Augustine's church. Rev. Father Halpin officiated. The deceased was a well known contractor, and his death followed an apoplectic stroke suffered Thursday night of last week. Besides his wife, who was Miss Bridget Flood, he is survived by three sons, William W. Elliott, Jr., Harry W. Elliott and Richard R. Elliott, and four daughters, Mrs. Charles W. Williams, Mrs. Agnes Sweeney, Mrs. Roger B. Allen and Miss Charlotte Elliott, all of Jeffersonville.

Heartfelt sympathy is felt for the family of John E. McCartin, of Jeffersonville, whose funeral was celebrated at St. Augustine's church on Tuesday. Mr. McCartin was an upright man and citizen, and his record at the Indiana Reformatory stamped him as one of the most efficient officers ever connected with that institution. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Alice A. McCartin, a son, Charles J. McCartin, a member of the Jeffersonville bar, and two daughters, the Misses May and Genevieve McCartin. He also is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sarah McCartin; a brother, Edward McCartin, and a sister, Miss Genevieve McCartin.

DENOUNCE STONEMEN.

Specials to the daily press reveal a hostile feeling in Philadelphia against the anti-Catholic political movement so stingingly rebuked at the recent election. The Stonemen's Club, formed a year ago and now having a membership in that city of 104,000 Protestant men, and which was the storm center of the recent political campaign in which it was generally accepted as the anti-Roman Catholic organization, has brought down upon itself the wrath of almost all Protestant clergymen in Philadelphia, who now declare it to be nothing more than an adjunct of the Protestant Episcopal church. They intend to break its strength for this reason, and will organize to do so at a general meeting of the Ministerial Union. The fight is the biggest religious sensation of many years in Philadelphia.

George Wharton Pepper, noted lawyer and Episcopal layman, and Rev. H. C. Stone, of Trinity chapel, founder of the Stonemen, are alleged by many ministers to be responsible for the rending into the Stonemen of important tenets of the Episcopal church ritual, chief of which is the "laying on of hands" in the "third degree." Ministers of other faiths say they can not sanction the administration of sacraments by a club. The "laying on of hands" is actually the rite of confirmation in the Episcopal church. Bishop Rhinelander, of the Protestant Episcopal church, has been asked by the Stonemen to become chaplain, and would therefore perform the acts to which the clergymen object. The latter declare that unless the ritual is modified they will be compelled to offer members of their congregations who are Stonemen the alternative of renouncing either one of their alliances. Following is the statement of Rev. Asa J. Perry, speaking for the Ministerial Union:

"We stand agreed absolutely in a refusal to sanction the administration of sacraments by a club, on the ground that such rites belong to a church and should not be made the rites of a club. We also positively refuse to enter into any fellowship which requires Protestant Episcopal confirmation. We object firmly to the slight implied upon non-Episcopal churches by a refusal to recognize their orders. We are sympathetic to the fellowship idea involved in the Stonemen movement, but we feel also that we can not unite on such a basis as that suggested by Rev. Mr. Stone and Mr. Pepper."

MACKIN'S ELECTION.

Mackin Council, Y. M. I., will nominate officers for the ensuing year next Monday night, the election to be held December 6. President John J. Lynn has given the council a good administration, and if he allows the use of his name will be given another term. The elections of Mackin are always exciting and bring out the largest attendance of the year.

SOCIAL SPIRIT

Influenced Practical Actions of Medieval Public Bodies and Societies.

Recent Work on Economic Problems Point to This Fact.

Brotherhood and Equality Have Been Long Preached by Church.

TEACHINGS WE ALL NEED TODAY

The University of Chicago Free Press has recently issued a collection of extracts on economic problems, edited by one of the professors of that institution, Walton Hale Hamilton. In the first division of the book quotations are given from various authorities on "Antecedents of Modern Industrialism," dealing with conditions in the Middle Ages. We learn of the "Gospel of Stowardship" from the great Summa of St. Thomas Aquinas, and of the denunciation of unjust business dealings, "not in general phrases but in detailed explanation, from the sermons of the famous Berthold von Regensburg. It is most refreshing to bear this great preacher, for example, tell to those who dealt in the selling of meat and drink: "If thou offerest measly or rotten flesh that thou hast kept so long until it be corrupt, thou art guilty per chance of one man's life, perchance of ten. Or if thou offerest flesh that was unwholesome before the slaughter or unripe of age, which thou knowest well and yet givest it for sale, so that folk eat it into their clean souls which are so dear a treasure to Almighty God, then dost thou corrupt the noble treasure which God has hurried in every man; thou art guilty of the blood of the folk."

From the original ordinances of various merchant and craft guilds we learn of the religious spirit which permeated these organizations and from the accounts of non-Catholic writers and students we are informed of what this spirit produced in actual practice. William J. Ashley and William Cunningham, the able historians of this period, in detailed fashion, relate the ideal of social justice which influenced the practical actions of the medieval public bodies and associations. Fair wages were aimed at, fair dealings in business, the protection of the consumer. "The use of the cheap labor of women was regarded as a rule with disfavor." The articles of the spurrers of London, assented to by "the good folks of the trade," requiring that members of their trade should not be allowed to work at night because of the "many persons of the said trade who compass how to practice deception in work, taking advantage of the night to introduce false iron and iron that has been cracked, for tin," and "to put gilt on false coppers, and cracked," might be quoted as an example of the public morality of the time.

The spirit of solidarity in the medieval town is dwelt upon at some length by the editor, and the reasons are given for this splendid spirit, the necessities in which these growing towns found themselves, and the social teachings of the church. "The influence of medieval thought in promoting the spirit of solidarity is not to be wholly overlooked," says the non-Catholic Hamilton. "The town was born in an atmosphere saturated with the spirit of Medieval Catholicism. Brotherhood and equality had long been preached by the church. Vertical or inter-class equality was never realized either in chivalry or in the church. But many medieval institutions presented a fair semblance of horizontal or intra-class equality. It was under the influence of ecclesiastical precedents that the towns established their new organizations. A study of the characteristic features of the guilds show how great was the number of things to which they were indebted to religious institutions, and how far they were from the innovations springing out of the newly created urban life. Influenced by such habits of thought and freed from the obstacles opposed by an already stratified society, the merchant guild legislated with the intent in view of placing social interests above class or individual interests."

Thus we are furnished with another evidence of the salutary social influence of the church upon economic conditions, as shown in the medieval era. At times, in superficially studying the social phenomena of various periods of history, we may be tempted to think that there is in its fundamental considerations and in its thought for the good of the people is the same as another and that the evils of one time are likewise much as at any other, changed in form of course by the changing material progress. But the careful reading of the testimony of somewhat impartial writers, or of those likely to be prejudiced in another direction, in regard to the Middle Ages must convince us that in that time there did exist a public spirit of social solidarity and justice which other eras have not shown. And the fundamental reason for this is plain—the teachings of Catholicism were responsible. It is these teachings which we need today to give life and vitality to the modern social movement, at present so materialistic and purely humanitarian in its tendencies. C. B. of C. V.

FATHER REANEY'S FUNERAL.

Thousands of the personal friends and associates of the Rev. Father William Henry Ironsides Reaney, who was the son of the commander of the U. S. S. Ironsides, and chaplain in the navy for twenty years, attended his funeral services in St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City. There were many who could not get into the crowded church, but stood in the throngs of people on Fifth avenue during the ceremony, where companies of marines and sailors from the Brooklyn Navy Yard, with arms draped, were posted as an honor guard. The Rev. Father Lopez, a cousin of the late chaplain, was celebrant of the mass, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Duffy and the Rev. John J. Brady, chaplain of the battleship Arkansas. Among the clergymen within the chancel were the rector of the Cathedral, Monsignor M. J. Lavelle; Monsignors Mooney, Connolly and McNichol; and Chaplain Vincent McGeane of the Fire department. A special choir was composed of thirty young priests from the Dunwoody Seminary. Chaplain John Chidwick, of the battleship Maine, in a eulogy of Father Reaney said:

"The public does not know that this man brought together in the Bay of Manila the Commander-in-Chief of the American fleet, Admiral Dewey, and the Archbishop of Manila at a time when such an occurrence seemed impossible. There are some folk who would tear from the soldier and sailor the uniform they wear, who would demolish our status of heroes, because that is their idea of peace. Those men may not look on Chaplain Reaney as you and I, but can there be anything more glorious, more eloquent than a man who has two objects in life—one to work for God, the other for his country. For twenty-three years Father Reaney did that."

Surrounding the coffin were many floral offerings, including those from Vincent Astor, the Army and Navy Club, the Elks, and Edward E. McCall. In the hands of Father Reaney were a crucifix and a string of gold beads, given to him a few days ago by Miss Constance McCall. Among those in the church were Congressman J. Murray Hubert, Admiral Charles D. Sigbee, Col. H. T. Ryan, Dr. J. E. Rearden, Commander D. W. Watson and Mrs. Annie Reaney McKenzie, sister of Father Reaney. The pallbearers were from the navy—Lieut. Commanders C. R. Miller, A. Bronson and R. B. Craft; Captains H. P. Jones and A. L. Halstead and Chaplains W. G. Isaacs, W. C. Cassard and R. D. Workman.

MEAGHER—CRONAN.

One of the most interesting and beautiful of the fall weddings was that of George P. Meagher and Miss Mayme C. Cronan, which was solemnized at St. John's church Thanksgiving afternoon. Rev. Father Schumann performed the ceremony. The attendants were Miss Nellie Cronan, sister of the bride, and John J. Davis. A beautiful musical service preceded the arrival of the bride party. The bride, who is an attractive girl, wore a gown of heavy ivory satin, embroidered in seed pearls, which formed a pattern of roses across the bodice. The V-neck was cut very low and long tulle sleeves fell over her hands. Her long tulle veil was a cap effect, held in place by a band of pearls and clusters of lilies of the valley. She carried a French shower bouquet consisting of bride's roses and lilies of the valley caught with how knots of white satin baby ribbon. The maid of honor was attired in a yellow satin gown and carried yellow chrysanthemums tied with pink tulle. She wore a French cap of val lace with yellow satin streamers. The church ceremony was followed by a supper and reception given at the bride's home on East Breckinridge street. Later the bridal couple left for a trip West.

APOSTOLIC BLESSING.

Federation members throughout the United States are advised that His Excellency Most Rev. John Bonzano, Apostolic Delegate, has informed the National Secretary of the American Federation of Catholic Societies that he received a letter from His Eminence Cardinal Gasparri conveying to all the members of the federation the Apostolic blessing of His Holiness Pope Benedict XV. Cardinal Gasparri gratefully acknowledges the copy of the resolutions of the Toledo convention and states that the deliberations that concern the defense of the rights of the Holy See and the rules to govern the social and religious life of the American Catholics, as well as the activity displayed by the latter in behalf of Mexico, are deserving of praise, and that the Holy Father approves of these deliberations and encourages the federation to continue with zeal in the good work it has begun.

ALUMNI OFFICERS.

County Treasurer Thomas D. Cline was elected President of St. Xavier's Alumni Society at the annual meeting of the organization held at St. Xavier's College Tuesday night. Other officers chosen are Frank J. Dougherty, First Vice President; Louis J. Hackett, Secretary; Robert G. Wolf, Treasurer; George M. Brown, Sergeant-at-Arms; John Hill, Spiritual Director; Eugene J. Cooney, Henry Nitzken, S. Twyman Mattingly, Raymond A. Schuman and W. P. McDonogh, Executive Committee. Following the election there was an enjoyable social hour and smoker.

DEMOCRATS

Of Jefferson County to Attend Inauguration in Large Numbers.

Frankfort Democrats Plan to Avoid Trouble of Four Years Ago.

General Registration Bill Will Be Introduced at Frankfort.

THE HERALD IDEA OF REFORM

At a meeting of the Louisville and Jefferson county Democrats Wednesday afternoon it was decided to have if possible every Democratic organization in this district represented at the inauguration of Governor-elect A. O. Stanley on December 7, and to elect a committee of arrangements was appointed to secure special trains, bands of music and to petition the Board of Safety for a detachment of mounted police for an escort. County Attorney A. Scott Bullitt will be Grand Marshal, and he will be assisted by John J. Barry, President of the Mose Green Club; Charles L. Barker, Secretary of the local Democratic committee; Charles B. Norton and Hunter Burke. It is planned to have two trains, the first to leave at 8 o'clock and the second at 8:25, both to arrive at the same time in Frankfort. Among the clubs that have agreed to attend are the First Ward Democratic Club, Shelby Democratic Club, Central Democratic Club, Bluegrass Democratic Club, Shawnee Democratic Club, Mose Green Club, Kentucky Colonials, Jefferson Democratic Club and the Social Democratic Club. A special rate has been obtained from the L. and N. and a large crowd is expected to take advantage of the opportunity.

The Kentucky Irish American called attention last week to the miserable fiasco four years ago when the L. and N. brought the Louisville Democrats into Frankfort three hours too late and then they were met by no reception committee or escort whatever. This was commented upon in the State Journal in Frankfort this week and action taken by the Democrats of Frankfort which resulted in Chief Marshal R. A. Brawner appointing R. L. Tobin (Uncle Dick), T. Mack Phyllian and John V. McDermott as his special aides to see that the Louisville Democrats were not slighted in any of the inauguration ceremonies. The Frankfort Committee also announced that the Duckworth Club of Cincinnati, the largest political organization in that city, will take part, and as the club roster contains over 5,000 names a big reputation was assured. The inauguration exercises will take place at the Capitol building at the noon hour sharp. The Executive Committee of Frankfort invite all citizens of the State, regardless of political affiliation, to be present and participate in the celebration.

The coming session of the Legislature, Representative George B. Burgett, of this city, has announced his intention of introducing a bill compelling those in the rural districts to register every October, placing them on the same footing as the city and town voters. This was advocated in these columns more than a year ago, and for no other reason than that of preventing the wholesale thefts in both the primary and general election in the mountain districts, where the Republicans have been in the habit of turning in whatever vote they needed or thought they needed to carry a contest, this being shown in the Morrow-Stanley race, when the returns were held back for several days and for no sane reason. It is also peculiar that in a general election the Tenth and Eleventh districts go overwhelmingly Republican, giving one cause to think that no Democrat ever lived within the mountain counties, yet when there is an interesting contest in the primary between Democrats there are thousands of votes cast, and usually cast one way, as in the Stanley-Beckham race for United States Senator, when Beckham owed his election to the votes from the Republican stronghold.

That thousands of fraudulent votes are cast in that section of the State no one denies, yet the Louisville Herald and others set up the cry for fair elections, the Herald raving from time to time about possible frauds in negro districts in Louisville, but never a word about the mountain double-crossers.

Another instance of the evils of non-registration is shown right here in the county outside of Louisville when Republican leaders imported negroes by the hundreds and voted them against the Democratic ticket, causing the defeat of the Democratic Representative for the first time in the history of Jefferson county. Yet the Herald's idea of purity in politics is not regarded very highly by many since it deserted the Bull Moosers for the Republican campaign fund of this year and the possibly larger one of next year. The present attack on the election tabulators is construed by many as a pique over the failure of a Herald reporter to get his finger in the pie. Only one contest will result from the recent election, that of Barkdale Hamlett.

FOR YOUNG MEN.

For some time past the Queen's Work, ably edited by the Rev. Father Garesche, S. J., and other Catholic publications have been agitating the necessity for a Catholic Young Men's Association on lines somewhat like the Y. M. C. A. They insist upon the unanimous and sincere co-operation on the part of all the Catholics of America for the accomplishment of this task. They contend that there is supreme need of unity of plan and action, which all admit. But what most surprises the Kentucky Irish American is that these bright minds all overlook the Catholic Young Men's Institute, an organization that is national in its scope and possesses every requirement they advocate. The Young Men's Institute extends from the Eastern States to California, and in a number of cities, notably Louisville and New Albany, the councils own their own club houses and care for large numbers. The fault for the membership being only 30,000 instead of 500,000 is with those who talk and write much but give neither substantial support or encouragement to this most Catholic society for those who have just passed the social age and are entering the realm of manhood.

And while on this subject we may enlighten many by saying the Young Men's Institute was founded on March 4, 1883, at San Francisco, and received the hearty co-operation of the late Archbishop Riordan, being approved by Pope Leo XIII. and Pius X. There are three classes of membership, benefactor, including those who participate in sick and funeral benefits and are between the ages of eighteen and forty-five; active, those who do not participate in these monetary benefits; and honorary members who may be of any age. To belong, it is necessary to be a practical Catholic. The society promotes love of church and country and aims to develop its members intellectually, socially and morally. While its enrollment does not enable it to do things for the church on such a gigantic scale as the Knights of Columbus, in the places where it exists it is a constant ally of the clergy and must be counted one of the most valuable forces in the American Church. Many an orphan and other sufferer has had reason to be grateful that there is a Y. M. I.

Those who are interested in the welfare of Catholic youth might do the good they are agitating by giving the Young Men's Institute wholehearted and earnest support, and thus abate their fear of the Y. M. C. A.

STONEMEN SPLIT.

Disgruntled and angry over the recent rebuke given them by the voters in Philadelphia, the Stonemen, an anti-Catholic political organization, is being split asunder, some of the political preachers objecting to the present ritual being used, claiming that it was drafted by Rev. H. C. Stone, an Episcopal minister, and that the ritual teachings incline to his religious views. Mayor-elect Smith, who was elected by a record-breaking majority, was the special target for this un-American organization, which bent every effort to cause his defeat.

STORM STILL RAGES.

The Catholic press of the nation has been more aroused over the recognition of Carranza as first chief of Mexico than by anything else that has happened in months. Hot articles denouncing the murderer, thief, tyrant and despoiler of virginity multiply every week. What good has the recognition done? Is Mexico one step further advanced after several weeks of Carranzaism than she was before? If the republic is to be saved, it will have to be by something more than an outlaw.

COMMON ERROR.

Never before have materialistic influences swayed the minds and hearts of men as they do today. The Boston Pilot points out the fact that there is a demand for everything but religion. National issues are discussed, solutions for international problems sought. Means are evolved for the universal cessation of hostilities and the advent of a reign of peace. But never a word about religion. The self-sufficiency of man to bring about an amelioration of conditions in every department of human industry is daily accentuated. Yet sound reason should teach men that no peace can be lasting, no effort really successful that does not derive its force from religion. The testimony of centuries is at hand to teach man that all is weak and transitory that emanates from human self-conceit.

WHAT IRELAND WINS.

One has a patriotic feeling in fighting for one's own country, and great deeds are done under the emblem that stands for your native land; but when one must fight for another's land, and that the home of the oppressor, then glory flies away and grim and bitter thoughts arise. Ireland has furnished the heroes in the war so far, considering the English part of it, and what part of victory falls to Ireland, if the Allies win? Added burdens, increased oppression and rigorous taxation.

AMERICAN CHRONOLOGY.

Timely Record of Some Memorable Events in the Catholic History of America.

By James A. Rooney, LL. D.
November 28, 1882—Death in his eighty-sixth year of the Rev. Henry Lemcke, O. S. B., convert; for fifty-six years a missionary in New Jersey and Pennsylvania; founded Father Wimmer to bring the first colony of Benedictines to America; co-worker and biographer of Father Gallitzin; born in the Duchy of Mecklenburg, July 27, 1796.

November 29, 1858—Margaret Ann O'Neill, Margaret Plunkett and Catherine Duffy, first candidates of the New Jersey Sisters of Charity, left Newark in charge of the Rev. Bernard McQuaid to enter the novitiate at Mount St. Joseph, Cincinnati.

November 30, 1910—The Right Rev. Ovide Charlebois, O. M. I., consecrated by Archbishop Langevin, of St. Boniface and appointed Vicar-Apostolic of Kewatin, extending from Manitoba to the North Pole.

December 1, 1897—The Most Rev. Louis Placide Chapelle, transferred from the metropolitan see of Santa Fe to New Orleans; Apostolic Delegate to Cuba and Porto Rico and envoy extraordinary to the Philippines; returned to his see during yellow fever epidemic of 1905 and died of the scourge, August 9, 1905.

December 2, 1900—New Church of the Sacred Heart, Augusta, Ga., dedicated by Cardinal Gibbons; cornerstone laid by the Right Rev. Thomas A. Becker, February 20, 1898; consecrated by the Right Rev. Benjamin J. Kelley, November 17, 1912; only consecrated church in the Jesuit province of New Orleans.

December 3, 1834—Martin Ferdinand Morris born in Washington; eminent Catholic jurist and lawyer; Associate Justice Court of Appeals, District of Columbia; one of the founders of the law school of Georgetown College; died in Washington, September 12, 1909.

December 4, 1708—Abbe Francois Piquet born in Bourg, France; famous Sulpician Canadian missionary and Indian linguist and orator; founder of Fort Presentation in 1750, on which site was built the city of Ogdensburg, N. Y.

SACRED HEART ACADEMY.

The pupils of the Sacred Heart Academy, Crescent Hill, are preparing an elaborate and classical programme for the entertainment of the relatives and friends on Thursday, December 8. Sacred Heart Academy has a large attendance this year, many girls taking advantage of the fact that day pupils are now received there.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

Tomorrow morning at 7:30 the members of Mackin Council will visit St. Anthony's church and approach holy communion in a body. A large attendance is expected. In the afternoon a class of thirty-five will be initiated, when Thomas D. Cline will have charge of the degree team and will introduce some new work. Sunday morning Chairman Spayd and the Athletic Committee will announce the basketball teams for the winter series.

INTENTION OFFERINGS.

One place where mass intentions are received gladly is the diocese of Bishop O'Doherty in the Philippine Islands. His Lordship the Bishop is urgent in his pleas for them. They mean in many cases bread in the mouths of his clergy. The priests on the Philippine mission know so little of ordinary comforts of life that the society is always glad to be able to send them stipends for masses. Masses sent to missionary Bishops are a true charity. The Catholic Church Extension Society, whose offices are located in the McCormick building, Chicago, is glad to receive such offerings.

SOCIETY.

Miss Jessie O'Brien, of the West End, has been spending the week in Nashville.

Mrs. J. P. Sweeney, of South Louisville, left last week to visit relatives in Nashville.

Mrs. Robert Shirley has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Fitzgerald, at Danville.

Mrs. James Sullivan has returned to Danville after a week-end visit to Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Ewing.

Mrs. Henry Immohe has returned from St. Louis, where she visited her sister, Mrs. Harry Kennedy.

Mrs. Charles Edwin Cooney, of Syracuse, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wathen.

Mrs. William O'Connell has returned from Cloverport, where she visited Mr. and Mrs. J. T. O'Connell.

Mrs. Joseph F. Voigt, of Jeffersonville, had as her guest this week Mrs. William Hanley, of Indianapolis.

Miss Mary Margaret Higgins went to Bardonia on Thanksgiving day for a few days' visit as the guest of friends.

The friends of Miss Mary Ross are delighted to see her out again, after a very severe attack of tonsillitis.

Miss Allie Greenwell has been entertaining Miss Elizabeth Doherty, of Brandenburg, at her home in Portland.

Mrs. Mary Callahan has returned to her home at Glasgow, after an extended visit to her mother, Mrs. Edward Treat.

Miss Bessie Hancock entertained with a reception and dance at her home, 834 South Fifth street, on Tuesday evening.

Fred Galvin and wife, Beechwood avenue, visited in Danville the past week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Nichols.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Edwards have issued invitations for a dance on December 14 in honor of Miss May Adams Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mattingly, 3613 Western Parkway, are rejoicing over the arrival at their home of a lovely baby girl.

Dr. John T. Chawh is again able to be out, having fully recovered from the injuries sustained in a recent automobile accident.

Mrs. Charles P. Dehler left Sunday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Kubler, in New York City.

Mrs. W. T. McDonald arrived Sunday from Chicago to spend Thanksgiving with her sisters, Mrs. J. H. Haager and Lula Paul.

RETURN THANKS. The Alumnae of Holy Rosary Academy wish to return thanks to their friends for the generous support given the eucbs and lotto of last week, a nice sum being realized during the afternoon and evening. OLD FRIENDS MEET. Lieut. Gov. Frank B. McClain, of Pennsylvania, who was one of the escort committee with the Liberty Bell which was exhibited here Monday, is a close friend of Al Kolb, of this city, both being former members of the church choir of St. Mary's church in Lancaster, Pa. Lieut. Gov. McClain has been in Louisville on previous occasions, having been the guest of Mr. Kolb. LIBRARY GROUND BROKEN. Ground was last broken for the new quarter-million dollar library at Notre Dame University. The new building will be of Bedford stone and the roof of green tile. It will have a front of 160 feet and a depth of 110 feet. Rev. Andrew Morrissey, Provincial of the Holy Cross order, and Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., President of the university, acted with the Library Building Committee, who awarded the competition to Edward L. Tilton, of New York, over four other well known architects. The site of the building already staked off is one of the most beautiful and desirable at the university, overlooking as it does St. Mary's Lake and situated conveniently for the students. Architecturally the site is approved by architects and landscape experts. In all its appointments the new building will be the last word in library construction. EMBARRASSED PROTESTANTS. The oldest A. P. A. paper, the Citizen, gives the dark-lantern brethren this advice: "Aim higher; we've been shooting into the ranks of the private; pick off the officers of the enemy, and smoke out the Protestant traitors." Eventually these proscription movements become more of an embarrassment to decent Protestants than to Catholics.	NEIL O'BRIEN NEXT WEEK. Neil O'Brien, the quaint and clever delineator of negro types and one of the best minstrels of the present period, who began his career as a complete, new and elaborate scenic investiture. STILL IRELAND. A Union county subscriber sends the following to the Kentucky Irish American: German says to Pat—What is Ireland going to do after the war? Pat—Well, Ireland was Ireland when England wasn't much, and Ireland will be Ireland when England is Dutch. REMEMBER POPE BENEDICT. Sunday being the sixty-first birthday of Pope Benedict, countless messages of felicitation arrived at the Vatican from all parts of the world. Among the dispatches were a large number from the belligerent countries expressing the hope that the efforts of the Pope to hasten the conclusion of peace will be successful. TORONTO'S ARCHBISHOP. The Rev. Neil McNeil, Archbishop of Toronto, was sixty-four years old Sunday. Beyond the anniversary mass and the prayers of his people that God would long spare him to them, there was no public celebration. CUDAHY'S CHARITY. Before leaving to spend the winter in California, Patrick Cudahy sent his check for $25,000 to the Milwaukee Foundation; a charitable establishment designed to aid all charities. GRAND ALTAR. The contract for the marble for the altar, furnishings and ornamentation of the St. Peter chapel in the new Cathedral of St. Paul has been awarded. The estimated cost of finishing the interior of the St. Peter chapel in keeping with the architectural splendor of the Cathedral, of which it forms part, is $28,000. Through the generosity of Mrs. Mary McCabill, of Lake City, Minn., the whole amount has been pledged to the building committee.

A Christmas Suggestion

The question of an ideal Christmas present for the whole family circle agitates at this season the minds of many. Plainly such a present must be one which interests every one of the family and give all of them pleasure and satisfaction. The meets all these requirements. Its presence in the home creates an atmosphere of refinement, an elevated interest that an ordinary Piano is incapable of creating. The more artistic Baldwin is perfectly within your consideration and our terms will suit you.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Division 2 will meet next Thursday evening.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will meet Wednesday evening.

The County Board will meet Monday evening at Bertrand Hall.

There will be election of officers at all of the division meetings this month.

Hibernians are discussing plans for a new hall building in New Castle, Del.

Thomas Noone, of Division 3, led a delegation to inspect the Liberty Bell during its stay here.

The division at Milwaukee, the largest in the country, will initiate many new members December 15.

Dave Reilly surprised all by singing "An Irishman's Toast" Monday evening in addition to his famous "Irish Jubilee."

There is a spirited membership contest on at Portland, Ore., which will end with a big initiation and award of handsome prizes.

The New York County Board held its smoker Saturday night. Murphy's Hall was crowded and many could not gain admittance.

Children's night by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Marlboro, Mass., won high praise. Over 300 little ones were delightfully entertained.

The Ancient Order has a strong team in the Indianapolis Catholic Bowling League. The opening games were rolled Monday night.

The degree team of North Attleboro, Mass., has decided to participate in the competition for prizes at the national convention in Boston.

The two divisions at Reading have been consolidated, thus effecting a thorough organization. Other Pennsylvania cities are considering similar action.

Many auxiliaries have formed degree teams which will compete in the Connecticut State parade for the prize offered for the best appearance and drill.

The Hibernians of Portland, Ore., held a large public Manchester Martyrs' memorial meeting Monday night. Hon. John P. Kavanaugh delivered the oration.

National Director Miles McPartland has been active among the Brooklyn divisions and has been greatly assisted by the Right Rev. Monsignor McGolrick and Donnelly.

More than fifty applications had been received in the contest between Division 1 and the Ladies' Auxiliary of Brockton, Mass., when the committees met the first of this month.

The county convention recently held at North Attleboro, Mass., was attended by the State officers. Reports showed the largest increase which has been evidenced for five years.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Rockland, Mass., has accepted a challenge from the Abington Auxiliary for a spelling bee, to be held December 15. There will be fifteen contestants on each side.

CHANGE OF MASSES.

Last Sunday the Rev. John O'Connor, pastor of Holy Name church, South Louisville, changed the hours for the masses to 5:30, 8 and 10 a. m. This parish is increasing largely in numbers, and the new order will be greatly appreciated by those attending services there, especially those who are compelled to work on the Sabbath.

CONVENTION DELEGATE.

Mrs. James Cullen, formerly Miss May Garrett, of this city, but now living in Chicago, is representing Presentation Academy at the convention of alumni of colleges and academies to be held in Chicago.

Mrs. Anna Nevin Cunningham was some time ago chosen delegate for the alumni of Loretto.

QUEEN'S DAUGHTERS.

Interest increases in the "Christmas Shopper" of the Queen's Daughters, to be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on December 11. The various committees report that there will be an abundance of everything for maids and matrons and the home, while the special features will include a number of pleasing surprises.

ORPHAN SOCIETY OFFICERS.

The various branches of the Catholic Orphan Society will meet on Sunday, December 5, when nominations will be made for officers, the election to take place at a general meeting on the following Sunday. Secretaries will send their lists to General Secretary Harry C. Colgan.

HAPPY UNION.

Heartiest congratulations and best wishes are extended George Schulteis and bride, who was Miss Anna Geisler, whose marriage was solemnized Wednesday morning at Holy Cross church. Father Brey celebrating the nuptial mass and performing the ceremony. The groom is a well known member of the fire department and the bride until recently a resident of Jasper, Ind. After a wedding breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schulteis, Granger Court, the happy couple left for an Eastern honeymoon trip.

VISIT TO POPE.

"Cardinal Von Hartmann, Archbishop of Cologne, on Saturday, started for Rome to visit Pope Benedict," says the Overseas News Agency. "The prelate is traveling under an Italian safe conduct, being the first church dignitary since the beginning of the war to make a trip in this way."

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The death is announced of Michael Hannon, Ennis, in his eighty-third year.

The death is announced of Alderman C. Buckley, Cork City. He was a successful business man.

Michael Cunniffe, retired national teacher, Athlone, who had been in poor health of late, was found dead close to his home.

Five members of the Carrick-on-Suir Rural District Council, who were disqualified for non-attendance, were all co-opted by the council.

Thomas McEntegart, aged seventy, whilst returning from Carrickmacross met his death instantly at Aclint bridge, Ardee, by a fall from a cart.

The Claremorris District Council adjourned as a mark of respect to the memory of Miss Nally, Claremorris, sister of the late P. W. Nally, the well known Fenian.

There is very keen competition in County Down for land let in acre. At Grangevalis, near Downpatrick, John Gracey let a little under eight acres for three years at $540 a year.

While crossing Lough Corrib in a small boat, Martin Tierney, forty, a tailor, from Langan, and Rodger Walsh, thirty-nine, Park, were drowned by the capsizing of the craft.

The Athy Urban Council declined to pay the Gas Company's increased price, and decided to procure oil lamps for public lighting pending the introduction of electric or other plant.

Rev. W. B. McFeely, Derry, has been presented with an address by the committee of St. Eugene's Schools Building Fund, in recognition of services in the cause of education.

The new Stations of the Cross, presented to St. Mary's church, Ardee, by Bernard Keelan, were erected and the Rev. J. McKeene, Dundalk, preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

A farm of two and one-half acres the property of Mrs. Roe, situated near Ardee, was sold by public auction to Thomas Mathews, Ardee, at the rate of $310 per acre. The rent is $25 per year.

Sister Mary St. Stanislaus, whose death has occurred at the Good Shepherd Convent, Cork, was born near Shanagolden over seventy years ago, and her life in the community extended over half a century.

Tullamore Jail is about to be closed. One of the first political prisoners to be detained in it during the Balfour coercion regime was Mr. T. D. Sullivan, then Lord Mayor of Dublin, who wore his robes of office in the prison.

Cardinal Logue has made the following further changes: Rev. W. Buttery, Knockbridge, to Dundalk; Rev. T. Fagar Maynooth College, to Caledon; Rev. F. Ward, Caledon, to Stewartstown, and Rev. P. Collins, Stewartstown, to Moy.

Widespread regret has been occasioned by the death of Robert Gorman, one of the largest business men in Sligo. His death occurred rather suddenly. The Sligo Corporation has passed a resolution of sympathy for deceased's family.

The death is announced of William Rudd, Ballycarney, a member of a well known North Wexford family who had gained his eighty-third year. The large funeral cortege was a striking testimony to the esteem in which he was held by his neighbors.

MISSION A SUCCESS.

Rev. Father Edwin C. Renan, C. P., of the Sacred Heart Retreat, will tomorrow close a most successful mission at All Saints church at Tylorville. Father Fabian C. P., the pastor, is slated over the results. There was a splendid attendance at all the services to hear the forceful and eloquent missionary.

CHARITIES CONFERENCE.

The biennial meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Charities will be held in Washington during the month of September. Kentucky is represented in this great body by John A. Doyle and Judge Matt O'Doherty. Cardinal Gibbons is the Honorary President. Over 400 delegates attended the meeting held last year.

FORMER SOLDIER DEAD.

John Mangan, a former member of the United States army and a well known young man of St. Louis Bertrand's parish, died Tuesday morning at Waverly Hills Hospital after a lingering illness from lung trouble, which caused his retirement from the army. During his service in the ranks he had traveled far and wide and the story of his journeyings and experiences were an ever pleasant theme to his friends. Always pleasant and even tempered, he won many friends from his boyhood days up and they sincerely mourn his loss. The funeral took place from St. Louis Bertrand's church with a requiem mass at 9 o'clock.

LECTURES IN NEW ALBANY.

Attorney Thomas Walsh, Lecturer of Louisville Council, Knights of Columbus, will deliver a lecture to the members of the New Albany Council next Wednesday evening in their club house, his subject being "The Ideal Knight of Columbus."

Mr. Walsh is a favorite in our neighborhood city and a big audience is assured him in advance.

ARCHBISHOP'S JUBILEE.

The great Archbishop of St. Paul, Most Rev. John Ireland, D. D., will on December 21 next round out fifty-four years of labor in the sacred ministry of the priesthood. He is a native of County Kilkenny, Ireland, and is in the seventy-eighth year of his age.
